

I am writing to recommend the excellent work of Ed Perkins.

I hired Ed to renovate a bathroom in my home in July 2015. Although I had a general idea of what changes I wanted, Ed was very proactive in the entire design of the new space, including helping me select the fixtures and the tile pattern.

When I initially met with Ed, he listened intently to my expectations, and then presented a detailed plan showing the layout, measurements, and estimated cost a few days later. He accommodated my requests to make some changes, worked within my budget, and suggested options to do so. Ed also accompanied me to various supplier showrooms to help guide me in choosing materials for the project.

Each day I received a phone call updating me on the progress that was made that day, and what was planned the following day. I felt confident in giving Ed access to my home, as there was never any doubt in my mind that he wasn't trustworthy and responsible.

As anyone who has had remodeling work done, demolition can be a messy project. Ed took special care to prevent any of the dust and demolition material from trailing throughout my home. At the end of the day, my house was never left in disarray.

My bathroom remodel took a little longer to complete than initially estimated, and when an unexpected issue arose, Ed responded and made the necessary repairs immediately. The final outcome reflects Ed's perfectionism and craftsmanship, and I couldn't be more pleased. Without any hesitation, I would happily recommend Ed Perkins services for your construction and remodeling projects.
